Senior Product Analyst

THE OPPORTUNITY IN A NUTSHELL

You? A curious, hands-on analyst who turns complex marketplace data into product decisions and scalable measurement foundations.

Role? Senior Product Analyst in our ReCommerce vertical, driving experimentation and marketplace product development across the Nordics. If you don't check every single 'senior' box yet but have strong core analyst experience, we still want to hear from you. We value potential and offer plenty of room to grow.

Company?Vend, home of FINN, Blocket, Tori, Oikotie, DBA & Bilbasen, where millions of people across the Nordics connect to find what they need, whether it's a job, a home, a way to move, or a fresh start.

Location? Join us in our central and modern Oslo office with the flexibility to work 3 days remotely per week: your choice, your balance.

Why us? ReCommerce is building the next generation of sustainable marketplaces across four countries, and analytics is at the center of how we learn and grow. You'll work with a small, skilled team that combines deep product collaboration with the opportunity to shape how we use

AI, semantic layers, and modern data tooling to fundamentally change how analysts work. This is a role where you help build things that last, not just answer the next question.

Sounds like your cup of tea? Check out the details below!

WHO ARE YOU?

- Strong analytical skills and hands-on experience with tools like Tableau, Amplitude, or similar.
- Fluent SQL skills to explore, analyze, and build your datasets. We use dbt, Snowflake, and Tableau to power our insights. Experience with Python for analysis or automation is a plus. Already built your first Streamlit app? Even better!
- A track record of working across the product lifecycle from discovery to delivery, partnering closely with PMs, UXers, developers, marketers, and fellow analysts.
- A collaborative mindset; you understand that great products are built through shared goals. You value collective success and holistic product growth over solo stardom.
- Excellent communication skills, not only in presenting clear, actionable insights but also in shaping the right questions and defining what data is needed to get to the answers.
- Problem-solver with a hands-on mindset, ready to dive into experiments, impact analyses, or marketplace KPIs. You habitually dive into the deep end to extract new insights proactively.
- A natural curiosity that fuels learning loops. You actively test hypotheses, measure impact, and help teams make smarter, faster decisions. You're excited about where analytics is heading - including AI-augmented workflows and modern data tooling.
- A driven and pragmatic personality: you're not just here to observe, but to build. You're prepared to question assumptions (including ours), challenge, and push for better outcomes.

WHAT'S THE JOB LIKE? Day-to-day work & projects cooking

As a Senior Product Analyst in ReCommerce, you help our product teams build the right features faster and learn from them reliably.

You work closely with Product Managers, UX Designers, Developers, and fellow Analysts to:

- Design and interpret experiments that connect product changes to commercial outcomes - including revenue, liquidity, and marketplace health.
- Build reusable measurement foundations: cohort models, segmentation frameworks, and KPI definitions that the broader team can draw on repeatedly.
- Run deep-dive analyses into category dynamics, user behavior, and competitive positioning across our Nordic marketplaces.
- Define success metrics and guardrails for product initiatives, including AI-driven features where measurement discipline is crucial.
- Create clear dashboards and reports that inform both day-to-day decisions and strategic direction.

Our ReCommerce Insights & Analytics team spans Sweden, Norway, Denmark, and Finland. We combine deep product work with cross-team collaboration, knowledge sharing, and increasingly, AI-augmented tooling.

Success after 6 months? You've built strong relationships with your product teams, contributed to experimentation and measurement for key initiatives, and delivered analyses that moved decisions forward.

Success after 1 year? You're a trusted analytical partner for marketplace performance and experimentation, with reusable models and frameworks that increase the leverage of the entire team.

The challenge to turn into an opportunity!

ReCommerce is fresh out of a transformation: we unified four brands onto a common platform while simultaneously raising the bar on analytical maturity. This means we're now gearing up to ship more product improvements, evolve definitions, and build new measurement capabilities from the ground up. It also means real impact: your work shapes how we learn, decide, and grow across millions of users and multiple countries. And with our investment in AI-augmented analytics, you'll help define what the analyst role looks like in the future.

A few words from Hans Erik Hallheim, Director of Insight, Analytics & Pricing

"Hi, I'm Hans Erik! Our team is small but ambitious - we cover product analytics and business analysis across the full ReCommerce vertical. What makes us different is that we don't just answer questions: we build the analytical infrastructure and measurement foundations that let the entire organization learn faster. We're deep into AI-augmented workflows, semantic modelling, and experimentation design, and we're looking for someone who wants to help shape that direction, not just execute within it. If you're the kind of analyst who builds things others can reuse, and who gets excited about changing how analytics works, I'd love to hear from you."

GOT YOUR ATTENTION? Let us hear from you!

Make sure to apply by the 30th of September; we're looking forward to hearing from you!

Hans Erik Hallheim, Director of Insight, Analytics & Pricing for ReCommerce, is happy to provide information about the daily work and answer any questions you may have about the role. Hans Erik is best reached by email (hans.erik.hallheim[AT]vend.com).
